

prohibit acts that are not necessarily reprehensible, or even considered a provable threat to the health, safety, or welfare of society any more so tha